TOWN TRUSTEES REVOKE SALOON LICENSE OF DEL MONTE HOTEL

Practically adjudged guilty of failure to exhibit a proper spirit of loyalty to the country and its institutions and of attempted evasion of the city license laws, following charges presented against him by the local Liberty Council, the saloon license of Charles Luscher for the Hotel Del Monte bar on Main street was revoked and the place ordered permanently closed at the end of the present month. This action was taken at the meeting of the city council Monday night, following an investigation which has been in progress for the past two weeks.

At the final hearing of the charges Luscher was without legal assistance his attorney, Judge Fitzpatrick being unable to attend on account of ill health. Following an announcement by members of the Liberty Council that they did not desire to present additional testimony, a request of Judge Fitzpatrick for a continuance was filed without action.

While no new evidence was presented by the Liberty Council, several members of that organization addressed the trustees, severely arraigning Luscher's conduct in the past and urging that ample ground had been shown for a revocation of the license. While the accusation of evidences of lack of loyalty to the country was not urged as the chief basis of action, it was contended that the admission of Luscher that he had failed to devote any portion of the profits of his business—conducted only under sufferance of law—rendered him unfit to be in charge of a business which at its best was regarded as a menace to public safety. The chief plea for the revocation of the license was based upon the contention that the testimony introduced at the hearing clearly indicated that Lusher had shown an intention to connive at the evasion of the law which forbids the sale of liquor in a saloon to be taken from the premises. Whether the liquor had actually been taken from the place, it was contended, cut but little figure, the fact that Luscher had shown a desire to advise of a method by which he hoped this law might be evaded was amply sufficient to show that he was not a proper man to be trusted with a saloon license especially at this serious time.

Luscher made no attempt at justification or denial. When asked if he desired to make further defense, he contented himself with a reiteration of his request for delay, pleading that his trial be again continued for two weeks.

In presenting the case to the trustees for decision, Mayor Sampson urged that there be no further delay in reaching a conclusion, contending that ample time had been allowed for investigation. Evidently this suggestion met with the approval of the trustees, all of whom were in attendance, as no inclinations for further delay were manifested. The only member of the council who evinced a disposition to discuss the case at any length was Trustee Merrill.

In opening the discussion Trustee Merrill severely commented upon the conduct of the saloon business by Luscher during the ten years it had come under his notice as a city official. During all of this time, commented Mr. Merrill, Luscher had shown a disposition to oppose every attempt of the council to surround the business with proper regulations. With the passage of the original restrictive laws, Luscher was the first of the saloon proprietors to evince opposition and advise attempts of violations. While, in the opinion of Mr. Merrill, Luscher was not the only one to violate the laws, he was the most flagrant of these violators. In fact, it was only a belief that Luscher was not the only violator that prevented an opposition to the renewal of the license for several years past.

Following his severe arraignment of Luscher, Trustee Merrill offered a motion that the license of Luscher be revoked, the order of revocation to become effective March 31st at midnight, the date of expiration of the term for which the present license payment had been made. This motion met with an immediate second from Trustee Mabie, chairman of the police committee and was adopted by a unanimous vote.

City Clerk Price submitted to the council the petition for the placing on the ballot the proposed initiative ordinance intended to legislate the saloon out of business with a certificate showing that the signatures to the petition had been verified by him sufficient. Acting upon this report a resolution was adopted directing that the question of the adoption or rejection of the proposed ordinance be placed upon the ballot for the coming general municipal election.

Acting upon a request from the military authorities at Camp Fremont, an order was made directing City Clerk Price to notify conductors of jitney dances in the city that no permits for these dances would be issued after the end of the present month.

A petition for the construction of a sewer on a portion of Davis street, near Roosevelt avenue, was referred to the street committee for investigation.

A petition, signed by practically all of the interested property owners, was presented asking that the streets of the Wellesley Park district, be oiled, the work to be done at the expense of the abutting property. The request was referred to the street committee for investigation.

Final consideration of the ordinance designed to prevent the attendance of minor girls at public dances was deferred until the next meeting, the suppression of the jitney dances seeming to render drastic action in this regard unnecessary.

The contract for the construction of the proposed sewer in Chensnut street was awarded to A. Hess & Co., whose bid for the work amounted to a total of $2,425.80.

Two applications of fraternal organization for permits to conduct punblic dances until a later hour than midnight were granted. The applications were from Redwood City Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles for a dance on Saturday evening of this week and Morvin Grove of Druids for a dance on April 20th, both of which will be permitted to continue until 3 o'clock in the morning.

A resolution was adopted ordering the improvement of the roadway of Vera avenue. Bids for doing the work will be opened at the meeting of the council April 15th.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANK PLAN MEETS WITH SUCCESS

The school savings bank plan has been launched in Menlo Park and it will soon be inaugurated in other portions of the county. The system is growing popular among the children. The plan was launched in Stockton on Monday last.

Speakers representing the Bank of Italy, Farmers & Merchants, Commercial and Savings and Union Safe Deposit banks spoke in the schools, explaining the plan in detail.

The children seemed keenly interested in the subject of savings and asked many questions of the banks' representatives, showing that they were grasping its significance. Dr. Giannini, vice-president of the Bank of Italy, and Phillip Lawler, manager of the school savings department, came up from San Francisco to assist in getting the movement started.

The plan is explained by Dave S. Matthews, representative of the Farmers and Merchants bank, as follows:

Pupils will bring their pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters, etc., to the teacher, who will acept the same, making a record of the deposits on deposit tags provided by the banks. The teachers in turn will place the deposits in coin sacks and send them to the principal. Later in the day the bank collector will call upon the principal and collect the money, giving him stamps for the same. This receipted for, he will return to the bank with the deposits, which are placed in the savings department. The principal will give the various teachers one-cent bank savings stamps, which the pupils will stick on cards. The cards or folders hold 50 stamps. When two of these folders are full the pupil is entitled to call at the bank whose stamps are contained thereon and open a savings account, or he can buy war savings stamps if he desires.

MENLO PARK MEN RECEIVES JUDGMENT IN DAMAGE SUIT

Salvatore Colombo, a well-known resident of Menlo Park, who was severely injured in an automobile accident last October, received judgment in the superior court for $1000 damages. On the day in question he was riding on his bicycle, when he was run down by one Gus Olsen, of the Olsen Lithograph Company, defendants in the action. It was brought out during the trial that Olsen was negligent, and that he was acting within the scope of his employment, thereby binding the Company, as well with negligence. Colombo was represented by Attorney Joseph J. Bullock, and Olsen by Jas. T. O'Keefe and Walter A. Dorn. The trial was held before Judge Buck, who rendered his decision Wednesday.

Given Interlocutory Decree

Johanna I. Baradat of San Mateo was given an interlocutory judgment of divorce against Adolph Baradat, wealthy brewery agent of San Mateo county. The grounds of the divorce were those of the extreme cruelty of the defendant toward the plaintiff. The custody of the two children of the parties were given to Mrs. Baradat. This action has been pending for some time, an dthe case was sharply contested. Mrs. Baradat was allowed one hundred and twenty-five dollars a month alimony. Her attorney in the action was Joseph J. Bullock, while J. E. McCurdy acted as attorney for Mr. Baradat.

Visit With Friends Here

Orlande Shaw and wife of Berkeley were here during the week. They were on a visit to Mrs. Shaw's aunts, Mrs. Sarah Wentworth and Mrs. George H. Rice. Mr. Shaw spent his boyhood in Redwood City. He is a travelling salesman for a hardware concern. His territory includes northern California, Oregon and Washington.

Mrs. L. E. Adams, wife of Professor Adams of the high school, is on a visit to her parents in Texas. She will return to California in June.

E. P. HEISE, THE WELL-KNOWN MERCHANT, PASSES AWAY

E. P. Heise, the well-known and much admired groceryman of this city, is dead. He passed away at an early hour yesterday morning in the Lane hospital in San Francisco following an illness of some two weeks. He went to the institution about fourteen days ago suffering with a severe cold which later developed pneumonia and which caused his death.

The sudden demise of Mr. Heise has caused a shock to the people of Redwood City where he was universally admired and liked for his strict honesty and many sterling qualities.

In business circles he was honored for his fairness and justice in dealings with his fellowman. He enjoyed a big patronage from the people who knew they would be properly treated and honestly dealt with when buying at his store.

Though never robust in health, frail and delicate at times he was generally at his post of duty waiting on customers and over-seeing his big business. He had the largest grocery business in town.

Few men enjoyed the confidence of the people of Redwood City as Mr. Heise did. All placed implicit trust in him. His word was his bond.

When his death became known yesterday much smypathy was expressed for his family and none but kind words was heard on all sides for the deceased.

Mr. Heise is survived by his wife, a sister, Miss Ida Heise, who is a teacher in the high school at Whittier, and a brother, Walter Heise residing at Berkeley.

Mr. Heise engaged in the grocery business here about 18 years ago and conducted it with success ever since.

He was a native of Ohio and was about 54 years old.

No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral. The interment will most likely take place in Union Cemetery.

CHANGE IN HIGH SCHOOL BOARD MEANS MORE TAXES

It was rumored yesterday that a circular will be issued by the opponents of D. E. O'Keefe and T. O. Heydenfeldt, candidates for reelection for high school trustees, in which it will be stated that it is the intention of the opposition to bring the school more up-to-date.

One of the means to this end was to hire automobiles to bring the pupils in from the outlying districts to the school. This matter was before the board last year when the whole question was thrashed out. It was found not to be feasible on account of the big tax that would follow and also the risk taken in conveying the pupils to the school. It was found that it would take three automobiles at an expense of $300 a month to do this. This burden was thought too great to place upon the already heavily taxed property owners. Then, too, it was found not to be necessary as the railroad passes through the entire district and this a safe mode of travel gave entire satisfaction.

NOTES FROM WOODSIDE

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. James Harrigan, nee Clara Jenkins in San Franacisco on March 18, 1918. This accounts for the 9 by 10 smile worn by Grandpa Jenkins lately.

Mr. Miller is a member of the firm of Wood and Little and is a young man highly thought of in business circles. The attractive bride is a granddaughter of Mrs. Bogle. Her mother is a teacher in the San Francisco school department. The young people will reside in San Francisco.

Mr. Steinberger has made a faithful, prudent and able trustee, giving much of his valuable time to the duties of the office. The people of Redwood City to show their appreciation of his work should give him an overwhelming vote. When men like Mr. Steinberger consent to give their time and labor to the public without pay or compensation of any kind and ungrudgling they ought to be retained in office and their services should be appreciated.

The many friends of David Flynn, the local agent for the Ford automobile, will be pleased to learn that he is recovering and is out of all immediate danger. He was taken ill on Monday night. Dr. T. E. Bailey, a specialist from San Francisco arrived and remained with him until the danger point had passed. He was resting easily yesterday.

Miss May Hynes of San Francisco was the week-end guest of Miss Madeline Shields.

ANY CHANGE MADE IN CUSTOM OF ELECTION WOULD CAUSE DISRUPTION

The terms of D. E. O'Keefe and T. O. Heydenfeldt as high school trustees expire this month. They will be candidates for reelection. The election takes place next Friday, March 29th. Ever since the organization of the high school twenty years ago it has been the custom to have a representative on the board from the various sections composing the Sequoia high school district. The custom has been rigidly adhered to and it has given entire satisfaction to the people. Mr. O'Keefe represents Menlo Park and that entire section including Ravenswood. Mr. Heydenfeldt represents Las Lomitas district which takes in Atherton and the foot hill country nearby. These gentlemen are opposed this year by two candidates from Redwood City.

Woodside is represented on the board by Edward Greeley and Belmont by W. A. Emmett and Redwood City by L. P. Behrens. Should Mr. O'Keefe and Mr. Heydenfeldt be defeated their district would not be represented on th high school board and some dissatisfaction would be likely to follow.

Aside from this argument it might be stated that the Sequoia Union high school is one of the best conducted institutions in the state, the faculty being the very best that can be secured, it is clean, pure and conducted along modern lines. By careful watching and management of the board of trustees the school has always been free from scandal. Then too, it has been economically conducted and in a way that reflects credit upon the trustees. Among its graduates are some of the most prominent men and women of the state. The school has always had a high standing among the high schools of the state.

The principal, Prof. S. P. McCrea, is one of the best teachers in the country, a hard worker, a good disciplipinarian and has the cooperation of an able and harmonious corps of teachers, all working for the welfare of the school.

Mrs. Ware was a legal resident of San Mateo county but the bulk of her property is located in the northern county.

Seger, son living at Portland and A. R. Seger, son, living at Burlingame. Mr. Seger has waved his right to serve as administrator and has nominated the petitioner to act for him.

MISS MARY DOYLE BECOMES BRIDE OF DANIEL E. GUNN

Gunn, who was a San Francisco capitalist. The pretty bride is a daughter of Mrs. Mary A. Doyle of San Jose. She is a graduate of the San Jose Normal school and last year taught in the Pilarcitos school near Half Moon Bay. REPORT OF SESSION OF BOARD OF SUPERVISOR publication of the notice of hearing in the matter and holding of the hearing.

A communication was received from Asa Hull of the San Carlos Dairy, protesting against the closing of the crossing in front of his place on the ground that he used the crossing daily in driving stock to the field on the east side of the railroad track and for that reason the closing would greatly inconvenience him.

A protest was also received from John R. Lopez and others against the closing of White Oaks crossing just north of Redwood City, and one from R. J. Shields and a large number of the employees of the Spring Valley Water Company against the closing of the crossing at the pumping station near San Carlos.

Following the reading of the report of the Railroad Commission and the recommendation contained therein and a discussion by the members of the board ,it was ordered, on motion of MacBain, seconded by Brown that the report be filed.

On motion of Brown, seconded by Francis, County Engineer J. V. Neuman was directed to provide the board with an estimate of the cost of improvin Ralston avenue in the Second district, as asked for in the petition read earlier in the meeting.

Supervisor MacBain read a letter he had received from Charles L. Williamson of Menlo Park, relative to the improvement of Menlo avenue. Williamson stated in his letter that the thoroughfare had been deeded to the county some time ago and therefore the taxpayers would not be responsible for the payment of the costs of improvement. The matter was ordered referred to Surveyor Neuman for him to look up the records and ascertain for a certainty if the road had been deeded to the county and if so, just what the conditions were.

The following additional applications for vehicle permits were received and the notice of hearing in same set for Monday, April 1st, on motion of Brown, seconded by Hickey.

Sherman A. Miller, Thomas P. O'Brien and W. E. Petty, all of San Francisco.

The board adjourned at 11:50 a. m. to Monday, April 1, 1918.

PROF. GREEN ADDRESSES BAPTIST FORUM MEETING

The first gun in the campaign for a "dry" Redwood City was fired at the forum meeting, Baptist church, Sunday evening. During the week, Pastor Parker had interviewed some of the business men of the town, and he reported the interview. The report was from two of the largest business concerns and from two saloon keepers. One of the two business men said: The town will surely go dry. It will be a good thing in many ways. It will help in a business way. A man comes into the store to buy a shirt. The price may be 85 cents. He looks in his pocket and finds only $1. Says I will only have 15 cents left for drinks. Guess I will go without a shirt this week. The taxes might be a little higher at first, but I would be willing to pay higher taxes and have a dry town. It would be to my profit from a business standpoint.

The other business man said: The town will undoubtedly go dry. I will vote for the measure. It will not hurt business, but will help it. He cited to Modesto that voted out the saloon and thought it hurt the town, and so put the saloon back again. But after a while, comparing a saloon town and a saloonless town, again voted the saloon out to stay. They found they were better off without the saloon.

One saloon keeper interviewed was at first gruff and refused to talk, saying, attend to your own business and let us alone. Put the saloons out of you want to. Being told that was up to the people said: To hell with the people. But sobering down, finally said: It will be a good thing. I am going to vote for the closing, myself. Another saloon keeper interviewed said: I will abide by the vote of the people. It may be a bitter thing for us, but we will have to stand it. A town cannot prosper with drunken men—we do not want drunken men around us.

A letter was read from city manager Reed of San Jose in which he said: The adoption of the so-called anti-saloon ordinance in San Jose has apparently worked very beneficially for the community. Some facts are already clearly apparent. First the great bulk of the people are entirely satisfied with the present situation. Secondly the number of arrests for durnkenness has fallen off from 76 for the months of January and February, 1917, to 43 for the same months this year.

A letter was also read from one of the leading lawyers of Redwood City as follows:

CLOSE THE SALOONS

They are the reception rooms of vice, crime and drunkness.

They are the meeting places of evil thinkers, evil doers, of criminals and of degenerates. They demoralize the youth, and embitter the aged.

They are slackers in the strictest sense for their poisonious booze, destroys the manhood of the soldier, and makes him an easy prey to the enemies of our government.

They are unpatriotic—for the money which they take, and for which they fail to give value received, should be used for Red Cross work—for Thrift Stamps and for Liberty Bonds.

They are enemies for they must be watched—the provost guards are their nightmare—the town marshal, their nemesis—the police officer their dread.

They are outlaws—Their business is the only trade outside the law—their license is not a contract, it is only a permission subject to revocation for any good cause.

They are a plague—They destroy not alone the physical, but also the moral man.

They are a civic nuisance—Special laws must be enacted for their reguation. Special officers employed to enforce municipal regulations—even special cells must be provided for some of their victims, (padded cells for the inebriates).

They are without conscience—For they will sell to the incompetent, the imbecile, the insane, the inebraite or the infant they will take the money, of the needy, of the widow, of the orphan, of the sick, or of the aged, and they will take it all, and they only give strife, trouble, misery, sickness and death in return.

They are sacriligious—They scoll at churches, at morality, at virtue, they corrupt the innocent, and destroy the weak they foster crime, they create poverty, they breed ignorance.

They retard progress:—They are the projenitors of idleness, and idleness opposes progress they debase the unfortunate who deals with them; their trade calls for consumption upon their premises; employees are held from their work; the employer as a consequence suffers.

Industry is unknown in a saloon; drinkers do not become mechanics; saloon idlers do not build towns, or cities.

Drunken men cannot build ships, or airplanes—government contracts are not let in communities where whiskey is the only motor power; factories and industries will not seek booze ridden communities.

We are in favor of progress; of industry, of sobriety, of thrift, of homes, of churches, of schools.

Let us act in acordance with our principles and vote in favor of ourselves by closing the saloon, the hell hole of iniquity.

The address of the evening was given by Prof. Green of Stanford, and was a masterful presentation of the temperance issue in part as follow:s Twenty-five years ago one could hardly find a hotel in California where it would not be necessary to go into the bar room to register. In one hotel the post office of the town was in the bar room also the office of the justice of the peace. Great changes have come since. Saloons no longer placed on a level with, or above, the churches. Great good will come from this fight, even should it not win. For a moral issue fought always helps a town. No defenders of the saloon can now be found. An enterprising newspaper of the East a few years ago made the statement that $1,000,000 would be given quickly to any one who would bring forth one good argument in favor of the saloon. No one has yet appeared to claim the $1,000,000.

Three phases of the question now before Redwood City appear. First, its relations to Stanford University. Students have been coming here for drinks since the saloons of Mayfield and Menlo have been closed. Some of these lives have been wrecked. Second, Camp Fremont, and largely the world because of the farreaching relationship of the army today. Commanders the world over are pronounced in their condemnation of the saloon as a resort for soldiers. Third, Redwood City herself, her boys and her girls. No community can advance very far in industry, culture and morals where the saloons are. Saloons oppose the best forms of government. They oppose women's suffrage. No section of the country has yet voted for women's suffrage where the saloons were a ruling factor. Civilization must get rid of the saloon or the saloon will get rid of it. President Eloit of Harvard once said that the white race must suppress the liquor traffic or another race would supplant it and do the work. In the present war more men and money are being destroyed than in all the wars of all the past ages. But if it will uproot the evil of drink—rid the world of the saloon, as it is now promising, it will be worthwhile. As President Lincoln found that he must destroy slavery in order to save the Union, so we are finding that we must destroy the drink curse in order to save civilization—in order to save manhood. Our present struggle in Redwood City thus becomes a moral issue, and in this respect has its setting in a world movement. We will be helping to win the war, and to save civilization and the white race by banishing the saloon from Redwood City.

DUCK HUNTING REMINISCENCES

STORY NO. 23, By CLAUDE FOX

There comes a time in the life of every man and boy as well, that, as the saying goes, the best of friends must part. Just as the pleasant business relations, associations and the friendship existing between men are interferred with and in many cases severed, so is the happy, chum-life of boyhood companions blasted and the days that have past arise before one but as pleasant memories. Circumstances in the lives of both play an important part in the furtherance of such results and then again death sometimes intervenes bringing with it sorrow to supplant pleasure and happiness.

In the case of my first pal Bill and myself circumstances, for which we were both in a great measure responsible, were potent factors in the partial severance of our existing relations, and then some years after, the grim reaper called my pal to his long home, ending forever our happy companionship in this life, but failing to obliterate a friendship which continued on into eternity.

For years we had been inseparable, and the acquisition of my first shot gun only tended to draw us closer together and for three successive winters we pursued the swift winged birds of the marshland with an eagerness that brought to both extreme happiness. But a change was to come shortly. The dark clouds were approaching the horizon of our carefree existence, but we did not realize their presence. Responsible, as we both were, for what the future had in store for us, we little dreamed of results, and went blindly ahead, put our foot into it, so to speak, and the consequences had to be accepted by us without a murmur.

Winter had passed, spring was upon us, and the web-foots had left for their breeding grounds. We were both engrossed with our work at school, around which memories of the season just closed were clinging, interwoven with pleasant dreams of the winter next to come. Ere long summer was ushered in and my long vacation was at hand. My school closed two weeks before the public school here, so "Bill" was on pins and needles, while I was at home overhauling my hunting traps and getting ready for the rabbits, quail and doves. Nearly every day I was out somewhere keeping the little shotgun warm. In the evening I would meet my pal and talk over the events of the day, where I had been hunting, how many doves had been killed and where the birds were most plentiful. I am deviating somewhat from the title of these articles, but pose of showing how our future duck hunting was curtailed by the commission of an act on our part during this summer, which "Bill's" stepfather took a very decided exception to.

My pal was in a measure contented as long as he could see me each evening, but he was fast becoming restless. The next week, which was the last week of his school, the "lacl o' the wild" was too much for him. The previous Saturday we had spent the day up among the oaks in what is now Wellesley Park, hunting doves and enjoyed a fine day's sport. But one week of school and then for a grand time. We both wanted to have a rabbit hunt. "Bill" complained the examinations were too hard, and didn't care whether he took them all or not.

It has been some years since I left school and am therefore not familiar with the discipline exercised over the pupils by the teachers of today, nor the gentle submissiveness of the young generation, especially the boys to the exactions of their preceptors, but in the days whereof I write there was occasionally a boy who absented himself from school without the consent of teacher or parent. By some of the lads, especially those from eastern states, this was called playing truant, but the every day happy-go-lucky California youngster designated such action as "hookey", nothing more nor less.

When my pal started for school on Monday morning of the last week that rabbit hunt was uppermost in his mind, and that night he informed me he had a terrible hard examination for Wednesday and did not want to be present on that day. So we put our heads together, two heads with but a single thought, and decided that "Bill" should play hookey and we would pull off that rabbit hunt, imitating as best I could a woman's handwriting, which he would present Thursday to acount for his absence the day before. We laid our plans very carefully, guarding every possible loophole to prevent detection and went to bed the night before full of confidence over what we each believed would be a complete success. Oh, what a shock was in store for us. last week of his school, the "call of "Bill' was to ask his mother to permit him to take his lunch to school, home at the noon hour and could therefore study longer. Fine idea, at least we thought so then.

We had gleaned sufficient knowledge from the older boys to be aware of the fact that the best time to hunt rabbits was early in the morning or late in the evening and I had consequently planned to leave home just as day was breaking but "Bill" would not consent to go at that early hour, and there was a good reason for his objection. His stepfather would at once become suscious and our trip would be spoiled at the very outset. My pal contended that he knew of some nice shady places up on the old McGarvey grade where the rabbits stayed out late would be in plenty of time, and there would be no question arise in the minds of his parents but what he had gone to school. The result was that we met at the appointed hour over on the old county road, now known as the highway, just south of where the Beeger tannery now stands. We decided to follow out along the Woodside road, but it was a fatal mistake. Had we gone up through the Horace Hawes ranch all would have beenswell, but fate was against us. Walking rapidly we soon passed the cemetery and were chuckling to ourselves over the success of our trip. Long lines of four and six horse wagons were passing along toward town loaded with hay, grain, wood and lumber, the horses' hoofs throwing the light clay soil of the roadway into suffocating clouds of dust. When we reached the gate opening into the Wentworth ranch we stopped a few moments to rest. Here the road turns slightly to the westward. Suddenly my pal's attention was attracted to a horse and buggy coming toward us at a good clip half a mile away. "Gee, that looks like the old man coming," he exclaimed. "Nonsense" I answered, "he is at home, or down to the stable." But "Bill" was not entirely satisfied. He had an eye like a hawk and between the rifts of dust clouds he had caught a glimpse of the animal drawing that buggy and thought it resembled the Dugan mare, a small bay owned by the Pioneer Livery Stable, that could put a mile of roadway behind her in 3:30. The vehicle had disappeared behind some lumber teams, so we walked along slowly with more or less anxiety on our minds as to the identity of the driver of that rig. Without hardly any warning from the east to the west side of the road, came that horse and buggy passing between two lumber teams, not one hundred yards from us. We both stood as though glued to the earth. It was the Dugan mare and the man handling the ribbons was Jack Stafford, "Bill's" step-father. Why hadn't we jumped over into the Wentworth hay field and hid when my pal saw the rig? But it was now too late. Mr. Stafford only took one look at us. That was quite sufficient. The little bay mare was reined into the fence in a jiffy and the driver leaped out horsewhip in hand. No attention was paid to me, but poor "Bill", how often I thought of him afterwards during that day. A wise man once said that "brevity is the soul of wit". He may have been right but I have my serious doubts. Candidly speaking I do not believe that that gentleman thought twice. Just what Jack Stafford said that morning when he alighted from the buggy I shall not attempt to repeat for publication. He was evidently mad and then some. Suffice it to say that his remarks were brief in the extreme but if there was anything at all witty about his exclamations, I surely failed utterly to comprehend it. There was the sharp crack of the whip, a cry of "ouch" by my pal, as he grabbed the seat of his trousers, and fairly flew into the waiting buggy. With a parting shot to me that he would have a talk with my father upon reaching home, the man who had put the damper on that rabbit hunt climbed into his seat, drew up the lines over the back of the Dugan mare, the little bay let out a few extra links and "Bill" was lost to view in a cloud of dust which raised behind the fast receding buggy in the direction of town.

As I stood beside the road thinking of what had just transpired, a few tears trickled down my cheeks. The crack of that whip had hurt way down in my heart and what the final but still did not wish to go back and have the rest of the boys give the laugh. Crossing the field I followed along the creek running through the McLellan ranch and shot a number of doves finally reaching home about two o'clock. Putting my shotgun away I waited patiently down at the old school lane for "Bill". He came at last and then for the first time I fully realized the consequence of that proposed rabbit hunt. My pal had orders to report to the Pioneer Livery Stable every day after school hours for work. He was to be there all day on Saturday, and during his vacations from thenceforth was to be steadily employed taking care of the horses.

That night I retired with a heavy heart for our anticipated trips into the marshland during the coming winter would not materialize. It is needless for me to say that the excuse to "Bill's" teacher was never written, and it was many months afterwards before my first pal was the shady places along the old McGarvey grade where the rabbits stayed out late.

REPORT OF SESSION OF SUPERVISORS

The board of supervisors met in regular session Monday, March 18, at 10 o'clock there being present Dr. C. V. Thompson, presiding, T. L. Hickey, W. H. Brown, John MacBain and Jos. M. Francis.

A petition signed by C. E. Haydock and others was received asking that the name of the West Union school district be changed to that of the San Carlos school district, giving the reasons for the requested change that the boundaries of the district had been changed and the school house moved from the Canyada to San Carlos, making the greater portion of the territory located within the latter village.

On motion of Brown, seconded by Francis, the petition was accepted, and the notice of hearing any objections thereto set for Monday, April 15th.

The following applications for dance permits were received and given their first reading: A. Lucchesi, Purissima; John Fannuchi, Miramar.

On motion of Francis, seconded by Brown, the application of A. G. Gindoth of Half Moon Bay, heretofore submitted for a permit to peddle merchandise in the county was granted.

A communication was received from the California Development Board, asking for information relative to the re-appointment of Frank L. Eskward as San Mateo county's representative on the board, was ordered filed.

A second comunication was received from the California Development Board, notifying the supervisors of the holding of the annual convention in Oakland on March 22 and 23. It was also ordered filed.

A communication was received from E. W. Florence, district manager of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, submitting a figure of $7810, for constructing an electrical line to provide power and light for the county farm and hospital.

Action on the matter was laid over for a period of thirty days, on motion of MacBain, seconded by Hickey.

On motion of MacBain, seconded by Francis, a permit was granted Mrs. G. Phillips to construct a building at Menlo Park, she having complied with the county building ordinance.

Applications for vehicle permits in the county under the new ordinance were received from the following persons and the time for hearing in each case was set by Chairman Thompson for Monday, April 1st, the board designating the names of the various papers in which the notices of hearing should appear:

Harry Goldman, San Francisco; Jacinto Shafer, San Francisco; David H. Elmes, Palo Alto; E. G. Lawrence, Palo Alto; M. P. Sarsfield, Redwood City; Mrs. Mary Astroth, San Francisco; George Crees Harrison, San Francisco; Mary Harrison, San Francisco; Sam Brenner, San Francisco; Marco Melovich, San Francisco; F. Rasmussen, Redwood City; Harry E. Nelson, San Francisco; John O'Farrell, Menlo Park; A. M. Spangler, San Mateo; Theodore Fisher, San Francisco; John F. Ford, Redwood City; F. J. Bernardo, Half Moon Bay.

In connection with the above applications, District Attorney Swart addressed the board and stated that in compliance with a request he had sent to Alexander McCabe, insurance commissioner a list of the insurance companies that are licensed to transact business under the classification of Fidelity and Surety companies in the State for the period ending July 1 1918.

The district attorney stated that he would not recommend the acceptance of any insurance policy furnished by applicants for jitney permits, unless the policy contained a provision guaranteeing payment in the event of judgment, to passengers.

In connection with the publication of notices of hearing in jitney applications, Swart said, that, inasmuch as the notices were to be published upon the order of the board, he would insist that the newspaper charges be paid before the granting of the permits.

District Attorney Swart addressed the board in the matter of the recommendations received at a previous meeting from the Railroad Commissioners, relative to the closing of certain railroad crossings between Beresford and Redwood City. Swart stated that if the board wished to close the crossings, it would be necessary to follow out certain regular proceedings, which would consist of the filing of a petition, signed by fifteen taxpayers in the district, asking for the closing of the crossings, the

"SCANDAL" AT THE NEW REDWOOD THEATRE SUNDAY

As the headstrong, wilful daughter of a wealthy New York family, Constance Talmadge scores an unqualified success in her new Select production, "Scandal," which is a gripping screen version of Cosmo Hamilton's novel. The picture which will be shown at the New Redwood Theatre, next Sunday, matinee and evening is filled with tense moments and reveals this newest star as an actress of unusual charm and ability.

The story deals with the dangers attendant on bucking the old conventional standards of society and shows how one small lie will beget thousands. Beatrix Vanderdyke, one of the season's successful debutantes is impatient of restraint and fond of her own way. Her parents swept here and there in the social whirl pay little heed to her, and the girl is left entirely to the care of her adoring but weak willed chaperone, Mrs. Keane.

The other attraction which are on the bill commencing Thursday are all Photoplay features of great interest and will give you a pleasant evening entertainment.

The hearing on said application is set for the 1st day of April, 1918, at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M. in the chambers of the Board of Supervisors at Redwood City, of said County and State.

MENLO PARK NEWS OF ALL SORTS

Doings at Peninsula Garden Spot As Told in Breezy Style By Our Reporters

E. W. Hopkins will open his home here next week. A retinue of servants will arrive here next Monday to prepare the house for the coming of the family.

It was rumored in camp circles yesterday that 4000 soldiers were expected early next week from Camp Lewis. There are now about 18,000 men in camp.

The Y. M. C. A. is erecting a large recreation building on the engineers section of Camp Fremont on Oak Grove avenue. This building will be used exclusively by the engineers.

Charles Weeden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weeden, will leave next week for the U. S. Naval training station at San Pedro. Mr. Weeden enlisted in the navy some months ago and received his notice to report for duty during the week.

Major General Morrison on Thursday issued drastic orders prohibiting gambling inside and outside the camp. There has been considerable gambling going on both in the cantonment and in business places in town and this has come to the ears of the general who made the sweeping order on Thursday.

FOR SALE—An elegant carved mahokany dining room set, beautiful carpets, small tables and fine chairs, some choice rugs and other household goods, kitchen utensils, garden tools, axes, etc., also two fine terrier pups 3 months old. Can be seen by appointment. Address Williams, Box 252 Menlo Park, Cal.

Robert M. Lucas, the genial and courteous manager of the shooting gallery, was united in marriage on Monday last to Mary Campbell of San Francisco. Both were childhood friends in the east where the romance which culminated in marriage began many years ago. The bride and groom will reside here. Mr. Lucas is very popular in town and counts his friends by the hundreds.

The new order of Major General Morrison compelling soldiers to be in camp at 10 o'clock p. m. went into effect on Wednesday evening last. This order has been a big boon to the business men of Menlo Park as all the men remain in town and do not leave for surrounding towns as heretofore. There was scarcely seating room at the Fremont theatre on Wednesday night. The boys in khaki are required under the new rule to be in camp at 10 o'clock on Monday, Tuesday and Friday nights. They are permitted to stay out until 11 o'clock on Wednesday evening and may secure a permit to leave the camp on Saturday noon until 11 o'clock on Sunday nights.

Sidney Clack has taken charge of the planting of shrubs and flowering trees at the base hospital. He is ably assisted by George Nunn. Over 5000 shrubs, donated by the wealthy people in and around Menlo Park, Atherton, San Mateo and Burlingame are on the ground ready to be planted.

It is incumbent upon the people of Menlo Park to vote at the high school trustee election that takes place next Friday. The polls will be at the school house. D. E. O'Keefe and T. O. Heydenfeldt are candidates for reelection. The former represents Menlo Park and Mr. Heydenfeldt Las Lomitas district on the high school board. For years it has been the custom to have every section composing the high school district represented on the board. There is a movement on foot this year to destroy this old custom and elect two candidates from Redwood City. Therefore it behooves all the voters to turn out next Friday. The polls will be opened at 1:30 o'clock p. m. and close at 6:15 p. m. Don't fail to cast your ballot.

HOLY WEEK AS CELEBRATED BY CHURCH OF THE NATIVITY

The Rev. Father Moisant C. S. V. and Chaplain of the 62nd Infantry will conduct the Meditation of the Holy Hour beginning at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Friday morning the Sacred Functions, opening with the Solemn Chanting of the Passion of Our Lord, will begin at 9:15 o'clock.

Friday evening the Solemn Way of the Cross will begin at 8 o'clock. Rev. T. J. O'Connell, pastor of St. Patrick's, San Jose and Chaplain at the K. of C. building, Camp Fremont, will preach on the Passion.

Saturday morning the Solemn liturgical functions will begin at 7:30 o'clock. The High Mass of the Resurrection will begin at 9 o'clock.

On Sunday, March 31st the Easter Mass will be a Solemn High Mass at 10:30 o'clock. An augmented choir supported by a string orchestra will render the music and the sermon will be special to the feast. Low Masses will be said at 7 and 8 o'clock.

FOOD WILL WIN THE WAR

ANNUAL PILGRIMAGE OF K. OF C. A COMPLETE SUCCESS

The annual pilgrimage of the members of San Mateo Council Knights of Columbus to Menlo Park for the yearly communion last Sunday was a complete success. The incoming members were met at the Southern Pacific depot and in a body marched to the Church of the Nativity. The procession was in charge of Sergeant Connelly, marshal of the day and was headed by 50 men in uniform, members of the society from Camp Fremont. This fine body of Catholic young men was admired by all. There were about 250 in the line of march. At the church the Knights were greeted by a large crowd. The mass was celebrated by Father O'Connell, chaplain at the K. of C. hall at Camp Fremont. Father J. B. Hannigan preached the sermon and in a well phrased address welcomed the knights, spoke of the good work they were engaged in and commended their loyalty. A special choir rendered the music.

After the mass a breakfast was served in the Hall of the Nativity by the ladies of the parish. Fair young women waited on the large throng and served the delicacies in a manner that evoked favorable comment.

Grand Knight B. J. Bogue, in a brief address introduced James T. O'Keefe, chairman of the day, who in a few well chosen remarks thanked the nights for their visit and stated that one-fifth of the members of San Mateo Council had joined the colors and they could be depended upon to do their full duty on the battlefield . He introduced Father Gleason, who made an eloquent address in which he urged the members to be loyal to their church. He highly commended the knights for the splendid work they were doing.

Judge E. E. Cunningham was the next speaker. He said the boys of 1861 fought to free one set of slaves and only came from one section of the country while the new army came from every section of the United States and would be abroad to battle to make democracy safe for the world.

Sergeant Kinney spoke of the heroism of the Catholics on the field of conflict and declared that the men of that faith would not be found wanting in the present crisis.

Captain Maloney spoke feelingly of the great work San Mateo Council was doing to assist the soldiers of Camp Fremont.

G. McGregor was the last speaker and in a few eloquent words presented the retiring Grand Knight, James T. O'Keefe, with a silver loving cup. The latter responded in an apprropriate manner.

The visitors were then driven in automobiles through the cantonment. The day will long be remembered by the Knights and their friends.

Rev. Father Moisant C. S. V. chaplain of the 61nd Infantry, will conclude his very eloquent and effictive Lenten discourses at the Church of the Nativity, by giving the Meditation of the Holy Hour next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

The town needs a good barbershop. There is plenty of business for one more. Many have to go to Palo Alto to have their barbering done.
